Rotarians Hear Talk By Dr. Robert Lynn

Former Granite Cityan, Dr. Robert Lynn, an Alton surgeon, who traveled extensively last summer in the Near East and India, was the featured speaker Tuesday night at the Granite City Rotary Club luncheon meeting in the YMCA.

Dr. Lynn, as he is known to local Rotarians, is the son of Dr. A. Ralph Lynn, former pastor of the Granite City First Presbyterian Church. His father also served as a Rotary district governor and is a past president of the local club.

During the summer months, Dr. Lynn spent four weeks at a missionary hospital maintained by the United Church in Pakistan, where he relieved the regular physician who returned on leave to the United States.

Prior to his return home, Dr. Lynn toured India, the Holy Land and other Near Eastern countries. He illustrated his travel narration with numerous colored slides.

ers would be determining whether to ease the financial strain created by the judges' decision on various portions of the school budget—salaries, building maintenance, supplies, etc.

It would perhaps be comforting to report that there is no problem. It could be noted that voters last May authorized raising the $1.75 educational fund-tax limit to $2.15 on each $100 assessed valuation. The rate on which this spring's tax-bills will be based is still $1.75, in line with school officials' desire to voters; the entire 40 cents remains untouched.

Spiraling Expenses

But the school district already had overextended itself, and subsequent trends have contributed to the expense spiral. Built-in cost increases, and the likelihood of still others, make it difficult to paint an entirely rosy financial picture.

It will be recalled that in September 1964 the school district cut its tax levy by $32,477 to $4,302.242 but that the 1965 budget by $304,018 to $7,137,926, total for 1964-65. Under accurate accounting, there was a $346,000 operating deficit at the educational fund at the start of the current fiscal year.

Employee salaries and wages are higher in 1964-65 than in the previous year, but that full financial impact of agreements expiring June 30, 1966, will not be felt until 1966-67 school year. In the spring of 1966, new salary negotiations will take place.

Fringe Benefits

There also has been agreement on certain fringe benefits viewed by the American Education Union as "unlike in school districts comparable to Granite City." These include salaries, leaves and payments of college tuition.

A district-financed medical hospital insurance plan for all employees is regarded as a strong possibility, effective July 1, 1966. Other fringe benefits and alterations in working conditions are being sought, most of them affecting school finances.

Also affecting the next budget will be a variety of expenses postponed from the current year to permit retention of the $1.75 educational rate for the 1964 tax year (1965 collection).

State Aid Increase

Favorable factors include an almost certain increase of federal tax aid, the lowest interest rate obtained on the 1964 construction bond issue, the fact that operating debt has been eliminated, and the fact that the school district has not had to lay off or averted costly building renovations necessitated by a new fire safety code.

On the other hand, enrollment continues to rise, building costs apparently will put bond allocations (including a difference of more than $200,000 on a Granite City high school addition), a former "cushion" fund to construct classrooms from operating funds no longer is included in school district financial planning, the building fund tax rate already is at its maximum, and the cost of staffing, equipping, supplying and maintaining schools will rise significantly as new buildings are placed in use.

Net result is that the school board last fall seriously discussed the possibility of resuming issuance of tax anticipation warrants in the spring of 1966.

A campus judgment obviously would further drain the financial outlook.

Reversal Sought

Although it is necessary to a fact hypothetically consider how such a payment could be made—the school district has not conceded the court battle. It is committed to taking all suitable steps to attempt to reverse the rulings handed down at Edw. Woodville and Mount Vernon.

Previous articles have dealt with the irrevocable 60-year-old will setting up the lifetime trust to which the $58,893 condemnation award was paid; missing records and other contradictions in the "case of the missing man"; the issue of technicalities or irregularities in importing the legal procedures followed by the school system; the impaired image of the law profession in general, as a result of the unusual case; and circumstances relating to Kronsbein's disappearance during the time of the lapsed condemnation.

This series is ending, but the story will not be entirely complete until there has been a final adjudication in the courts. Speed with which the case progresses will depend largely on the judges and the extent of revelation. The limited point on which the case now hinges is whether the school acquired jurisdiction—through proper notification—of Kronsbein's interest in the land.

State Cuts School Aid, Madison Sees Financial Problem

Growing concern over inadequate state aid for public schools was voiced by Wm. Brown, an administrator of schools, at a meeting of the Madison board of education Tuesday night.

He cited a reduction in state aid as recently announced by the state office of public instruction. An official notice of tax objection by all railroads operating in the state, high cost of the state required survey of school buildings under the life safety code now delayed by a court ruling, and the higher costs of school improvements caused by the safety code.

The Madison district made a claim of $484,606 in state aid, based on attendance records, but the state education office announced a deficiency of about $18 million in the common school fund and the basic claims cannot be made in full.

Under an approximate formula for payments provided by the state office, the Madison district will lose about $39,075 in state aid.

Deficit to Increase

Brown noted that "we are expected to spend about $300,000 more for operating costs than we would receive. Now we have to add another $400,000."

"State aid is the lifeblood of the school system," he said. "Just with taxes, we would be lucky to run a four-month school. This will kill every school district in the state."

John Beloff, board president, remarked that this is the first time since a state deficit has been declared, and John Giddish, school attorney, said he believed it would be a disaster in Granite City. These include salaries, leaves and payments of college tuition.

Brown said that on a basis of "we would need another $125,000 to meet Granite City's average expenditure per pupil. Madison's average cost per pupil based on a 1964-65 audit, was $1,100."

There is no extreme urgency as long as the lifetime trust is in effect, since the money and interest in 1953 covered rental if not purchase. However, passage of time and additional market value of the school site, along the land involved extends beyond the 1953 date, and the former Madison road to the old location of Fehling road. The former Madison road, a southern tip of a classroom wing added in 1962, meaning that about 65% of the campus and school is situated on land whose ownership is being disputed.

Still Seek Information

The school district has reported locating new evidence relating to the case, and it would be pleased to receive any other information of evidence from interested citizens. Kronsbein did not previously decide any other contingent "contaminated."

The cloud over the campus title could be removed simply of course through a monetary settlement. But public feeling over the court entanglement, and implications of the case might lead into it, appear to end such a "solution."

History Will Be Made

"With neither side willing to yield, the 35.16 acres of Granite City may remain in contention for some time. The end result will set legal history; courts district not previously decided any other contingent "contaminated."

The cloud over the campus title could be removed simply of course through a monetary settlement. But public feeling over the court entanglement, and implications of the case might lead into it, appear to end such a "solution."

Dunbar Improvements

Viral Dalgard, school architect, informed the board that he hoped to have plans and specifications for improvements to Dunbar school ready for a call for bids by the March 16 meeting. He said costs will be higher because of the life safety code regulations on new schools and improvements, and it was questioned whether the board would have funds to finance all of the planned work.

Receiving top priority at Dunbar is a new boiler system, which will cost about $15,000, increased from a previous estimate of $13,000 because of code requirements.

Other plans include work in 45 classrooms, halls, stairs and cloak rooms, blacktopping of the school yard, a fence and replacement of a pit or installation of an incinerator.

Tax Objections

Jay Kozielek school treasurer, said he was informed by the county clerk that 10 railroads have filed objections on their valuations on taxes levied for all school funds for the 1965-66 year, and that the Terminal Railroad Association also objected to the Illinois-Alton district fund tax.

Other railroads are the Illinois Terminal, Pennsylvania Railroad, Chicago and North Western, Chicago and Eastern Illinois, New York Central and the Norfolk and Western.

Brown noted that he 1957-58 assessed value of railroads in the district was $46 million, while the latest figure was $52,772,616. The railroads just don't want to pay their taxes, Brown said. "If everybody felt this way, all governments would have to close up shop."

Safety Code Survey

The architect told the board that an architectural survey of the school buildings was being conducted by a consultant.

code survey has been suspended because a Wisconsin Supreme Court ruling that the code was illegal. The state is appealing the decision to the Illinois Supreme Court.

He reported on work conducted so far with priorities given to the Dunbar school first, Dunbar second and Louis third. He said the other schools pretty closely meet the requirements.

He listed as urgent at Madison, junior high school, which code requirement, an enclosure for the main stairway, a secondary exit for the home economics department, the department of electrical and mechanical engineering costs are the highest item, and the superintendent noted that the district could not raise more than $15,000 per year on a five-cent non-referendum tax rate permitted by the state.

The architect was asked to submit his own bill up to date, but he said he preferred to wait until the survey of each school is completed. He was told the district may not be out of money by then.

Other Board Action

Adopted a resolution on calling for the annual school election on April 10 (from noon to 7 p.m.). The terms of Del. Blinn, Stock and Frank Perry will expire Feb. 24 while the first day of the election for nomination of candidates, March 29 will be the last day and March 23 will be the final withdrawal date.

At Venice, the police magistrate post will not be filled. Three of the seven village board posts at Dunton Beach are to be filled this year. The village was organized two years ago and seven board members were elected, including Thomas Staiff, board president, and six members. Three of the six justice terms expire this year.

Those of Harold McBride, Chester Dean and Otto Kreher. All have obtained petitions of candidacy from Clerk Elmer Phelps and are expected to file with the opening of the filing period Monday.

Opposition Threatened

Question tickets have been threatened in both Madison and Venice municipal elections. The filing period, however, will remain open until March 29.

In Madison a new Democratic club recently was chartered and its incorporation announced its purpose is to organize a ticket in the township races for November.

Hospital personnel conducted a fire drill while the marshals were there.

opposition to the city administration. In Venice, John Mangiarino, former alderman, has announced his candidacy for mayor and said he plans to have a complete slate of candidates in his campaign. Mangiarino is reported to be circulating his petitions.

In the township races, for which the filing period already is open, all the incumbents whose terms expire this year have filed their petitions of candidacy in Namoki, Venice and Chouteau townships. In Granite City, however, the incumbent town assessor, Van Dee Cruse, has filed petitions as a candidate for mayor. Nelson Haggner, incumbent supervisor, has filed petitions of candidacy to seek re-election. Incumbent assistant supervisor Milton Allen also has filed petitions for one of the two assistant supervisor posts open to election, while the other post is sought by Daniel Chuvpich.

a newcomer in the political field. Chuvpich will seek election to the post left open by the death last week of assistant supervisor Robert O. Gaughan, whose term also was to expire this year. Gaughan had filed petitions for mayor. Andrew Gasparovic Jr., whose post as magistrate of Granite City will be eliminated this year, has filed as a candidate for the assessor's job vacated by Gaughan.

There is no supervisor race in Namoki this year, but incumbents in other offices are seeking re-election on a slate that includes Joseph J. Cohan, assessor; John Karcher Jr., town clerk; Gene Rother, collector; and Ed. E. Polley, Robert Strickland, John and William Schreiber, auditors.

Supervisor Arthur W. Moore, of the Venice, Madison and Possums Beach municipal elections, has filed petitions for candidate for March 1, when March is set as a municipal election date.

Dodgem Streets Being Dodged by Chairman

A housewife's suggestion to restrict parking to one side of narrow streets and eliminate dangerous tactics by motorists had several aldermen dodging the issue Monday night. A proposal for a stepped-up, quick solution was bogged down in debate and never got such a conclusion as the city couldn't park in front of their homes, and it would be a crime to take away such parking privileges.

The chairman of the Street committee, Nunn, said he preferred to leave it to the aldermen of the wards involved, while his companion Fifth Ward alderman, Basarich, classed the debate as a waste of time and recommended delaying a decision until after the April city election and letting the city's engineering staff work out a solution.

The original request was made Jan. 4 by Mrs. Kathleen Nichols, 2680 Grand avenue, who said that driving to and from the downtown district was hazardous because of two lanes of moving traffic and parking on both sides of the narrow streets.

Another letter was read to the council this week calling attention to the problem. It was from Roy Hennington, 2856 Iowa street, a downtown jeweler. He pointed out the narrow streets showed poor judgment by persons who - or 2000 block of Benton street with sales tax funds, and the council authorized preparation of a one-year contract renewal with the engineering firm of Research, Planning & Design Associates to provide motor fuel tax program.

Under study is a proposed street project with the city of Madison for improvement of the Cambridge avenue north of Edwardsville road in Madison and Martin street in Granite City under a motor fuel tax program. Madison has planned for south-bound one-way traffic on its section, but is delaying the improvement.

Happy and Unhappy
He was answering Alderman Bettine, who said she had heard from persons in the Seventh Ward who lived along narrow streets and wanted the parking restricted. Whittmer added that the people would be unhappy if they couldn't park in front of their homes, and it would be a crime to take away such parking privileges.

The push for committee action ended with Nunn's comment that he would want to hear from the individual aldermen after they had talked to their constituents, while bragging that he had restricted parking along narrow Cayuga street, where he lives and that he follows the wishes of his ward.

Steenberg asked him to call upon the committee to cope with the city-wide problem and not stick to ward boundaries, Nunn shrugged.

27th St. Study
Other streets proposals were taken up as requests were made for a study of 27th street, between Benton and State streets to determine if there are sub-surface failures causing homes to be damaged by heavy traffic.

Authorization was given to seek bids for resurfacing, the 2000 block of Benton street with sales tax funds, and the council authorized preparation of a one-year contract renewal with the engineering firm of Research, Planning & Design Associates to provide motor fuel tax program.

This year, instead of providing for a large family, as in the past, St. Peter Youth Fellowship held a party for 20 needy children. Transportation was provided to and from the church and there were other church parties which included the needy families. Several other youth groups visited families and in addition to Christmas baskets presented each one with a gift.

Thirty-one baskets were supplemented with potatoes, flour, coffee, bread, glee and chickens. All of the orders were delivered by Mrs. Minnie Dillard and a friend.

$694 Christmas Donations
Received was $694 in Christmas donations and total expenses were $786 leaving $92 to be paid by the organization. This will be paid from other donations received through the year so that no money will have to be expended from the United Fund.

In addition to the cash donations, several churches and groups provided canned goods for the baskets, or took the baskets and supplemented them, while others took entire families and provided them with food, clothing and toys.

The Welfare Association extended its appreciation to Mrs. Ruth Brue and her 4-H girls for sorting the 25 Christmas baskets presented by the Girl Scouts, also to Mrs. Dillard who did the ordering, the Christmas committee who worked so diligently in getting baskets ready, those who did some of the delivering and to everyone who helped in any way to make the Christmas venture a success.

Other clothing bought for her was a new wool dress, a slipover sweater, two pairs of hose and underwear. "It was joy to see a young girl so happy," Mrs. Whittle replied. The donations as a whole were used to provide clothing for a family. Instead of taking them all shopping, an order was issued to a Mrs. N. to purchase articles real-

GC Surprise Takes Hot Streak Into Weekend Games

'Cut' Player Fully Healed

"If you want something to write about," said coach Andy Sullivan, "this Groboski has done quite a job for us."

He was talking about Joe Groboski, a 6-foot 2-inch 178-pound senior at Granite City high school. A year ago, amiable Irish Andy never dreamed he'd ever be talking about Joe Groboski.

"Since the Pontiac tournament," Sullivan continued, "he's hit 68.8% from the field and averaged 10.4 rebounds per game. That includes the Pontiac tournament, the Alto, game and our three games at Dupon, and you've got to remember he had one off game at Alto."

That kind of record is certainly something to write about—and make any high school coach happy.

In the eight games of that span, the well-built Groboski's accomplishments compare favorably with the 1963-64 records posted by Collinsville all-star Roger Bohnenstiel, one of the best players to come out of the area. Bohnenstiel, a slim 6-6 four inches taller than Groboski—hit an amazing 68% of his field attempts over the season, and averaged 10.2 rebounds a game.

Jolly Rodgers also averaged 27.1 points a game in the 28-1 Kahoeks; Groboski has hit a 14.1 average, with the Warriors winning three of the eight games since Dec. 28.

Cut-In Junior Year
Groboski's story, like Bob Pettit's, is inspiration for fans during times of athletic splendor. The St. Louis Hawks' great couldn't make his high school team as a sophomore; Groboski goes one up on Pettit—he was cut as a junior.

Sullivan recalled that, as a junior, Groboski showed little promise in sports. He was eliminated after being eliminated, he kept playing basketball, sandlot-style, and grew in size and talent. This fall, Sullivan saw the vast improvement.

Groboski started the season slowly, a bit uncertainly and netted just 29 points in the first four games. In each of the two contests preceding the Pontiac holiday meet, he scored 11 points.

Against Bloomington at Pontiac, he scored 10, then had that "off" game and went scoreless against Rock Island. Allen. He hit his stride in the semi-finals, scoring 22 points against No. 1-ranked Pekin, and has been going strong since. He scored 14 against Waukegan, 15 against Alto, 18 against Freeburg, 17 against Dupon and 20 against Belleville. "He's exceeded my expectations—so far," said Sullivan, keenly aware that the toughest half of the season is yet to come.

Little Guy Big Help
Although Groboski has been a big asset to the Warriors, there's a little guy around who has produced good results—though not quite in the unexpected manner of Groboski. Guard Vince Debeve, at 5-8 and 144 pounds is considerably smaller, but his steady play has produced a 12.9 scoring average—better than Groboski's overall 11.9.

"I don't know if he hasn't played better than I thought he would," Sullivan said of the scrappy senior letterman, who couples scoring ability with fierce defensive play. He was so impressive at Pontiac that fans there gave him a standing ovation as he left the Warriors' final game.

The consistently effective play is reflected in his scoring totals. He has yet to hit the 20-mark but has scored from 14 to 19 points in all but four of his team's 5-9 campaigns.

Sullivan has also been pleased by the play of his only other returning letterman, senior Jerry Lybarger, who missed the first three games with an arm injury. "He's done well, and considering he had to recover from a pretty bad injury," the coach said of Lybarger, effective in recent spot appearances.

Behind Groboski and Debeve, the Warriors' scoring output has been rather low, although Larry Eklund, hard to stop when on target, has a 9.4 average. The junior guard hit 27.1 points in one game, has been held to a single-point job in others.

Belleville Primary Target
Other scoring averages for the Warriors: Terry Moore (currently hobbled by an ankle sprain) 7.4; Elmer Worthley, 6.3; Lybarger, 4.9; Larry Dillard, 4.1; Bill O'Neill, 3.4; Virg Kambarian, 3.2; Joe Hauptman, 2.0; Forrest Swan, 1.5, and Mike Pritchard, 0.6.

The Warriors will be trying to avenge last week's 66-56 loss to Belleville in the Dupon tournament championship game as the Maroons call here tomorrow night for a Southwestern Conference game. The varsity tip-off is slated for 8:30, following the junior varsity preliminary.

"I thought we could get 'em the first two times," said Sullivan, "and I still think we can." The first conference contest was at Belleville, where the Warriors led after three quarters but finally lost 62-59 in the closing moments. Thirty percent fouls called against the Warriors gave the Maroons enough free throws to win going away at Dupon.

The Warriors played another conference game Saturday night in Alto, where Rogers won 67-65, scoring here in the last seconds of play. GCIS is seeking its first conference victory after six straight setbacks.

Cahokia Visits Tomorrow Night

Trojans Appear Out Of Race After Loss

Madison high school appears to be out of contention for the Midwestern Conference basketball title just mid-way through the league schedule—earliest keyhole the Trojans could make it. Since 1958-59, when they were out of the running early in a 5-3 conference season, the Trojans have annually participated in down-to-the-wire finishes in the six-team league. A 9-24 record in 1960-61, for example, kept them out of Madison, scored all but eliminated the current team from the race.

The decision left coach Earl McClanahan's team with 2-3 Madison record, well behind leading Highland (5-0) and Dupon (4-1). Roxana (2-2) and Cahokia (1-1) are also ahead of Madison and last place Bethalto (0-1). "I don't believe any team with three losses can win it," said McClanahan. "And I'm not sure just how many more games we can win—we're not getting any better and the other teams are improving."

Unbeaten Champs Since '59
Past seasons bear out the assumption. Dupon won the title with a 9-1 record in 1959 and 4-0 since then every champion has gone undefeated. McClanahan's Madison teams of 1961-62-64, Cahokia in 1963 and Dupon in 1960.

The Trojans' only two conference defeats in 1963 came from Cahokia and the Comanches didn't clinch the crown until late in February. In 1960, the Trojans under coach Charles "Bud" Mueller ran second with a 7-3 record and didn't lose until Dupon won a mid-February game.

McClanahan thinks Cahokia might prove the biggest threat to Highland due to expected help from two players who were probable first rounders in the first semester. His Trojans will test the Comanches tomorrow night at the annual game time is 8:15, after the 6:30 p.m. junior varsity encounter.

Dal Expects Wrestlers Battle Eight-Year Inx Cards to Up 1965 Salary

Dal Maxwell, Granite City infielder of the St. Louis Cardinals, said today he believes the world champions of baseball will raise his salary for the 1965 season.

Maxwell, like most of the fielders, returned his contract unsolicited to general manager Bob Howsam. The pact called for the same salary he received in 1964, despite his outstanding play in the pennant stretch drive and the World Series.

"I didn't expect just a raise, I expected a good raise," he told the Press-Record today. "I think I did a good job last year."

"When a ball club wins the pennant and the World Series, I believe everyone deserves a raise no matter how little or how much he contributed."

"I think the team needs a man who can play three infield positions," he was hoping to get a shot at the second base job in spring training.

Maxwell stepped in for injured Julian Javier at second base in the World Series, played errorless ball and made some dazzling fielding maneuvers.

He said he'll probably huddle with Howsam soon and express confidence in his own worth. He's also a shortstop, a third baseman and a first baseman.

Maxwell has signed an employment contract with the manufacturing Co., St. Louis, in the off-season. In the past, the firm has expressed interest in Maxwell full-time should he leave baseball.

East St. Louis high school has decided to drop its annual holiday basketball tournament after 20 years, athletic director Pick Dehner told the Press-Record this week.

Dehner said the tournament lost money for the first time this season. Discontinuance notices were sent to the other seven participating schools after financial statements were reviewed.

YMCA to Honor Soccer Players Tomorrow Night

Awards will go to 11 teams and more than 100 individuals in a soccer presentation ceremony at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at the YMCA.

Ruben Mendoza, YMCA Soccer League director, said the main special award will go to the internationally-known soccer player, Carlos Lugo.

Giesler is president of the St. Louis Soccer Association and a past two-time president of the U.S. team in the 1964 Olympics at London and the 1952 games in Helsinki.

He managed the U.S. 1962 Olympics trials team. He also managed the U.S. World Cup teams in 1950 and 1958.

Honored will be the Granite City YMCA team, which won the championship in 1964.

Awards will go to the following teams: first place and playoff winner GBU Lincoln and second place Bricklayers Local 63; Bantam boys' first place and playoff winner Giffith Agency, second place Buzzs and third place St. Louis.

Girls' first place and playoff winner Mexican Honorary Commission, second place and playoff winner St. Louis, and third place Ladies Agency.

All soccer players, their parents and coaches are invited to the awards ceremony at the Trenton gymnasium.

Red Devils Seeking 4th League Victory

Nearing the halfway point of the Alto-Clinch-Union Conference season, Venable's Red Devils visit the Aviston Eagles tomorrow night.

The game is scheduled for the Trenton gymnasium.

It will be the fifth of 12 MCM games for the defending champion Devils, currently in second place with a 3-1 record.

The Breese Cardinals, who upset Venable, lead with a 4-1 mark.

Unless coach Charles Lesko's Aviston club has an above-normal night, the Devils don't figure to pose much of a problem. They are 1-4 in the conference, tied with Warden in the cellar, and stand 4-11 overall.

Venable, meanwhile, has lost just two of 17 games since Dec. 19 to Breese and Highland St. Paul, two of the area's better small school teams.

6-5½ Aviston Player
"When I was in high school, Aviston was the toughest thing around," said ex-Venable star, now-coach Bill Ohlendorf. "But when Mater Dei (Breese) opened, I think a lot of the Catholic boys went over there."

Aviston, an 81-68 loser to Venable Tuesday night, has one of the best 6-5½ ball players who will tower over the tallest Devils. The other Eagles, however, are average.

The only Aviston victories were over Tamaroa 71-38 and Breese 60-46 on Dec. 10 and 16. Bunker Hill, Wescing, Livingston and Ashley—all beaten by Venable—were winners against Aviston.

Dillon, Jackson Tops
Scoring averages for Venable show Percy Dillon on with 20.1 mark, Rich Jackson at an even 17, Rich Essington at 15.2, Edward Black at 9.1 and Denny Hill at 8.2. Those five are the

Wrestlers Battle Eight-Year Inx In Meet With Waukegan, N. Chicago

A team that Granite City wrestlers have never beaten faces the Warriors under slightly different circumstances Saturday.

"The Waukegan Bulldogs, who have won all eight dual matches from the GCIS matmen, will be hosts to the Warriors and the North Chicago Warhawks in a triangular meet."

Coach Bill "Red" Schmitt and his team will travel to the Chicago suburb by train tomorrow. The meet begins at 2 p.m. Saturday and will run straight through to completion. Schmitt is not certain which of three methods used to handle tri-angulars will be employed by Waukegan.

Waukegan annually a state power in wrestling, hasn't lost to the Warriors since the series started eight years ago.

"Even though Madison and Lincoln won state championships three times (1958-59, 1960-61, 1961-62), and fourth once (1961), Granite City finished ahead of Waukegan in the 1957 state meet by winning second place honors and tied the Bulldogs for fourth in 1961."

The Bulldogs have been coaching the Suburban Conference school was in 1958 when the conference was 24-22. The most lopsided decision was 31-8 in 1961. North Chicago met Granite City in 1961 and 1963 and lost both times.

East St. Louis Drops Cage Tourney; Madison Seeks Opening For Holidays

East St. Louis high school has decided to drop its annual holiday basketball tournament after 20 years, athletic director Pick Dehner told the Press-Record this week.

Dehner said the tournament lost money for the first time this season. Discontinuance notices were sent to the other seven participating schools after financial statements were reviewed.

Cahokia Rallies To Top Coolidge

Cahokia's ninth grade experts overcame Coolidge in the final five minutes Tuesday night and sent the Granite City's home with a 6-53 defeat.

The Braves led 11-8, 29-26 and 40-36 after the opening three quarters but wilted before a zone press defense in the final period. Cahokia scored 27 points, hitting 18 of 35 free throws, in the fourth quarter.

Overall, Cahokia made 33 of 40 free shots in the game. Coolidge, who had 13, Norman Hall and Jeff Jones 11 each and Ron Shepard and Earl McCurt six apiece for Coolidge, none 2-8.

Here Tuesday afternoon, the Chicago-Clinch-Union Conference Central 56-31 in an intra-city battle. Gary Simpson scored 10 for the winners while Dennis Campbell's 12 and Rick Thompson's 10 topped the Indians.

Coolidge also won the seventh game contest 50-22 as Gary Penick scored 18 and Denny McKirney nine points, upping the squad's record to 9-0.

OUTSTANDING RECORDS on the Granite City high school wrestling team include the 17-2 mark posted by Gary Forshee (left) at 180 pounds and the 18-2 by heavy weight John Evenden. Both are seniors.

LOOKING NORTHEAST from the 25th street rail yards, across the six-acre tract on which the Carroll-Weed Development Co. of St. Louis planned a development of 27 separate units with paved streets, swimming pool and fencing to block out the railroad tracks. The weed-covered plot has harbored hebes and peeping toms on occasion and has been an eyesore to the area. Neighboring residents protested the apartment project, petitioned the City Plan Commission to turn down a request for rezoning which meant withdrawal of the $1,500,000 development.

LAYOUT OF THE PROPOSED $1,500,000 APARTMENT development scheduled for construction on a six-acre tract just west of Heintzville, but which was blocked by a six-to-three vote of the City Plan Commission rejecting a request to rezone the area. An 8-5 classification for multiple dwellings was necessary to permit the development. Carroll-Weed Development Co. of St. Louis planned construction on the land they intended to purchase from Leo and Avery Schermer, owners of the site. As shown in the above plot, curved streets, varied arrangement of units, a swimming pool and a fence at the rear and the ends of the area would have created a buffer strip between present residences and the railroad tracks. The city council voted Monday night to uphold the Plan Commission. The tract is at the end of Michigan and Idaho avenues off St. James and St. Paul streets.

Southern Illinois Books

JOHN W. ALLEN

"Southern Illinois University"

There is nothing in the title.

"It Happened in Southern Illinois" is a book that should precede a column about what has been written concerning Southern Illinois.

In fact, this column tells of three such books that have appeared recently. All tell of Indians and all are less attached to the Illinois country. Each of the three is written by Irvin Peithmann.

Since Irvin Peithmann is a student of things Indian, though the three books appeared in a cluster they were not written that way. In fact they were years in the making.

The first of these volumes is entitled "Broken Peace Pipes."

It tells of White Man's casual regard, perhaps it would be better said, of casual disregard, of the promises made in Indian treaties.

Just as peoples in Christian nations register their most solemn oaths with a hand on their Bible and those of other faiths make like use of their scriptures.

Peithmann's books, though the Indian sealed his vows by drawing his puff of smoke from a pipe, passed from one to another. Because they did this, the peace pipe became a revered object. Hence, the choice of "Broken Peace Pipes" as a title.

The Indians' View

"Throughout Broken Peace Pipes" the author indicates a definite bias and does much to justify it. He shows the Indian often being played as a pawn by the French, British and Americans in turn. Each nationality is accused of using the Indians against another nation's forces whenever it could. Each strove to pit Indians against Indians if they appeared best to serve its objective in mind.

Many "Noisy Red Men," and some of them were truly so, pass in review before the reader. The tragedy is that each in turn met death, by disease, disfigurement, or death. Thus we see Pontiac, "Little Turtle," Tecumseh, Black Hawk, Red Jacket, Geronimo, Bull, Chief Joseph, Geronimo, and a host of others pass in the long procession of the dispirited and the doomed.

A similar list might be made of the names of Indian Nations that likewise fought back and vanquished. Among these was a valiant red guard action.

All in all, Irvin Peithmann's books, though they are basic criticism, however they came along too late, by about 250 years.

Story of Cherokee

The second volume, remember please that this is a series of three individual books and not a "set," is entitled "Red Men of Fire" and tells the sad story of the Cherokee. It tells of their forcible expulsion from their homeland in the Great Smokies and of their painful journey in mid-winter over a long trail that led through southern Illinois to present-day Oklahoma. The term "Trail of Tears" certainly is appropriate. Approximately 15,000 bedraggled, journeying Indians reached the end of the trail in Oklahoma. The other 4000 reached the end of the trail somewhere along the way.

In this book Peithmann makes apparent the stature of some Cherokee. They were not a savage people. They had a well-organized form of government. They were a literate nation, many having attended eastern colleges. A man of the Cherokee, Sequoyah, for whom the great trees of California are named, invented an alphabet, a phonetic one. Perhaps, his is the equal to any alphabet that has ever been devised. Sequoyah is aptly termed, "The Columbus of the Cherokee."

Reading this book makes one want to journey to the small town of Cherokee, N. C., around which the descendants of those escaping election now live. One wants to see the eternal flame that burns there to declare the union, at least in spirit, of all Cherokees. The visitor should not leave without journeying careful observer can identify many objects representative of the various cultures. He is enabled to visualize the progressive steps in the different cultures. He sees cultures arise, and vanish, leaving only a few artifacts to tell the story. Sometimes the reader is left to puzzle over the disappearance. Reasons that sound logical are offered but are not fully declared. Some day, perhaps it will be known definitely why succeeding cultures followed, then vanished.

Illinois Indian Culture

This brings us to the third of Peithmann's volumes, "Indians of Southern Illinois." This book is much localized and imparts the feeling that "this happened here." He tells of the Indian cultures that have in turn flourished in Southern Illinois during the past 10,000 years. The reader leaves off reading with a feeling that he understands what a "culture" is. These cultures—Early Hunters or Paleo Indians, Archaic, Woodland, Hopewellian and Mississippian are typed. From text and illustrations, a some months of living among those Indians in Florida. Sales of this book have reached more than 100,000 copies. Peithmann's writing is combined, stand as an impressive accomplishment of a self taught archeologist.

Chamber Music Trio Charms Audience

By Mr. Austin Lewis

A magical spell of combined musical artistry and individual greatness was the prevailing mood Monday evening as the Tri-City Community Concert Association presented its second concert of the 1965 series with the appearance of the internationally-known Beaux Arts Trio of New York at Granite City high school.

The enthusiastic audience was aware from the moment the trio began to play that this was not just a performance by another trio—but rather an inspiring experience of fine chamber music played with impeccable taste and musicianship—a great ensemble with great artists.

Among the selections were: Trio in B flat major, Opus 11, Ludwig van Beethoven, written for piano, violin and cello. This work has three parts which furnish a veritable feast of music. The theme is set forth by the cello and piano and sparkles with humor.

Viola Sounds Like Bagpipe
Wedding March, Gabriel Willebrand. A novel number performed by Mr. Guleit in which he demonstrated his ability to make a violin sound like an entire bagpipe ensemble. The audience was amazed and delighted to find that as they shut their eyes, they were certain that they were listening to bagpipes rather than violin artistry.

Scherzo Fantastique (Ronde des Latins, Antonio Bazzini). Performed by Mr. Guleit and Mrs. Menahem Pressler, pianist. All the bravura effects are found in this selection. The flying spicato and the left hand pizzicato find a chance for display here. A fine climax for their portion of the program.

Introduction and Allegro, Giuseppe Valentini. This portion of the program was devoted to Mr. Bernard Greenhouse and his cello. The first two movements are from a sonata written in the 18th century.

The next and final concert in the present series will feature The Revelers Male Quartet, a vocal group, on Feb. 15.

Solons Balk Again at Paying For Betinec Profile Booklet

Granite City council members again refused to approve a $1787 printing bill Monday night for publication of a governmental information booklet, "Betinec's Profile by the People of Granite City," prepared and copyrighted by Alderwoman Betinec.

An opinion given by City Atty. Filloff stated that the council agreed in October and again in December to finance the booklet and that failure to pay would subject the council to a lawsuit by the printer. Minutes show the approval and the contents and right were approved, although no formal resolution was presented.

Council members immediately said the opinion was to have been based on whether the city was obligated to pay for a publication that had been copyrighted by an individual. Filloff replied he could base his opinion only on the information included in council minutes.

Bickering, Harassment
The debate featured much bickering between aldermen and a flare of harassment involving Mayor Davis, Whitmer and Mrs. Betinec.

Whitmer said he had been deceived in the way the booklet was published, but that since he had earlier agreed to its publication, he would see to the payment. Whitmer remarked he felt the council should be given credit for the publication rather than just one member.

Davis kept chiding him with "go on Sam," and they argued over whether the issue was being kept before the council for political reasons. Mrs. Betinec added, "Don't ever try to do anything for the city for political reasons. Mrs. Betinec and the council would get credit." Both Whitmer and Mrs. Betinec are council members for the office of mayor.

Suggestion by Morrien
Morrien called for a detailed accounting of the sales and income, pointing out that only 80 out of 1000 booklets had been sold. He said he had seen 80 and 920 were unaccounted for. Mrs. Betinec informed the Press-

Record she has a complete record of the distribution, including about 12 copies given out without charge by herself.

Receipts are to be turned over to the city to reimburse it should the council vote to pay the $1787 printing bill.

Morrien suggested that, in the event the full $1787 is not reimbursed, the aldermen, pay the balance so that tax funds will not be used for the booklet. "I'll help her sustain any loss," he said, adding that other aldermen also should share the burden.

Rutledge pointed out the minutes were in error in stating the booklet was being prepared for information to voters for the Nov. 3 election, and that it wasn't published until late in December.

Voting for the payment were Norn, Skubish, Whitmer, Basarich, Mrs. Betinec and Berfeld. Opposing it were Partney, Rutledge, Johnson, Dallas, Morrien, Sternberg and Thompson. Aldermen Bartosiak, Boyd and Pence were absent.

Ray Snelson, 17, Hurt Seriously in Car Crash

Arthur R. "Ray" Snelson Jr., 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Snelson, 3229 Wayne avenue, a Granite City high school senior, was hurt seriously at 7:45 last night when his auto struck a concrete bridge abutment on State Aid Route 55 a mile-and-a-half west of Route 157. He was the lone occupant of the car.

New ASF Positions for Kraegel, McCullough

Mark W. Kraegel has been named to the new post of assistant vice-president, manufacturing, for American Steel Foundries, Inc., effective Feb. 1, it was announced today. C. Wayne McCullough, assistant works manager of the East Chicago, Ind., plant, succeeds him as Hammond, Ind., works manager.

Kraegel will be responsible for manufacturing operations at several ASF plants, and will be headquartered at the Chicago general office. He has been with the firm since 1936.

McCullough, also with ASF 28 years, like Kraegel joined the company under an Illinois Institute of Technology cooperative training program, later receiving a mechanical engineering degree. After Navy service he became supervisor of the industrial engineering department at the Granite City plant.

Named assistant to the works manager of the Granite City plant in 1952, McCullough became chief industrial engineer at the Chicago office in 1956, going to the East Chicago plant in 1959.

Radio Stolen

A small transistor radio was stolen from a car parked on the post office lot. It was reported this week by Mrs. James Williams, 129 Rivera drive.

Tooth Decay-Infectious Process

Dental caries is not a hole in a tooth, but an infectious process which can begin in any area where bacteria can reside. It is disturbed for relatively long periods of time.

This point was made at a University of California alumni dental meeting this month by Dr. Maury Massier, professor and head of pedodontics at the University of Illinois College of Dentistry, Chicago.

Dental decay has a definite pattern of progress through the dental arch," he said. It begins in areas such as pits and fissures, and spreads from molar to premolars to upper incisors in a predictable sequence.

Susceptibility Varies
"Different persons are caries-immune or caries-susceptible. The factors which determine the degree of susceptibility are not yet known, but are complex and related to genetic and systemic factors as well as to local environment."

Before anything else is done, the disease must be stopped," said Dr. Massier. "Every pediatric dentist (children's dentist) knows that it is fully 90 per cent in the mouth of a child whose teeth are in a state of active decay. The margins of these fillings, particularly those nearest the gums, are soon attacked."

"It is therefore, logical to place a restoration, or an appliance, in an active infected mouth. One must first arrest the disease and eliminate the infection."

Restorative Approach
Dr. Massier emphasized that "recognition of dental decay as not a hole in the tooth—and not a hole in a tooth—has altered the approach to restorative dentistry."

"Twenty years ago restorative dentistry was merely restorative. Operative dentistry was essentially the filling of holes in teeth, usually by infected adults. This procedure of drilling and filling tooth by tooth was usually successful, because in the middle-aged adult the disease is slow and intermittent and the fillings."

THE FOCUS
Name and address must accompany each letter, but will not be revealed if anonymity is requested. Communications of less than 250 words will be given preference. All letters must be typed, double-spaced, on one side of the paper. Letters with abusive misstatements or lacking in good taste or fair play will be rejected or edited.

WANTS MORE MAJORITY TO THE EDITOR:

When I was in grade school, I thought teenagers were really worldly and sophisticated. As a freshman in high school, I was up to the seniors as quite mature. When I was a part of the senior class, I saw they were like children. Now I am, at long last, an adult, something I had looked forward to all my life.

Monday night was my first observation of the city council in session. Once again, I have not found the voice, mature, intelligent adults I had expected, but people who are childish and immature in their thoughts, words and deeds. Of course, there were a few adults who acted like mature adults, but they were a few adults who acted like mature adults.

We were very pleased to receive a copy of the editorial in opposition to branch banking in the Jan. 14 edition of the Press-Record. We sincerely hope that you will continue to support the community banks and credit unions in our state.

There is no public demand for branch banking in Illinois. The surveys in past years have shown that the public is not interested in branch banking and that it is adequately served by our present banking system of community-owned community banks.

Too Much At Stake Not To Reconsider

$1 1/2 Million Apartment Complex Proposal

The recent 6-3 rejection of a $1 1/2 million apartment, swimming pool and recreation building complex by the Granite City Plan Commission was disappointing. It marks an otherwise fine record of public service. And the city council, which could have made its own study and possibly salvaged the project for the benefit of the city, accepted the commission's rejection without a murmur.

With all due respect to the personal wishes of those Heintz residents who objected to the apartments, it is our opinion that the buildings not only would have enhanced the value of the property but also would have eliminated an unsightly, weed-grown tract of land between them and a network of railroad tracks—an area that frequently harbors hoboes, peeping Toms, and the like.

We don't know if the project developers would return to Granite City. If they had the chance, but we do believe the Heintz residents, the City Plan Commission and the city council should reconsider their objections. Surely there is enough leadership, civic and business, among these three groups to find a solution: Granite City needs apartments badly for incoming industrial, Army Depot and Southwestern Illinois University staff people. Dwelling units are vital for growth of this city.

The 108 apartments also would contribute around $30,000 annually in taxes; the 108 families are the equivalent of a quarter million dollars in bank deposits; a third of a million in annual sales, and three quarters of a million in income. School population impact would be minor, since statistics show there is only one child, on the average, for each two adults in the family.

Insofar as the Heintz residents are concerned, they also should consider alternative use of the six-acre tract. Located as it is alongside railroad tracks, it is unlikely that the kind of single-family dwellings built would enhance existing property values; it is equally likely that the present unsightly appearance and inherent dangers would continue for many years.

The greatest of faults is to be conscious of none. —Thomas Carlyle

Public Pays For School Building Damage, Thefts

It would behoove taxpayers to keep a close watch on heating installations and report any indications that vandalism or burglary is in progress. School buildings have become a popular target. Extensive alarm networks are costly, and expensive burglary insurance does not seem to be available to the schools. The city of Granite City is taken and any damage that requires repairs must be paid for by the local public through its property taxes.

An optimist sees a light where there is none; a pessimist comes along and blows it out.

In worrying about the future of mankind, give some thought to driving carefully.

State Bills Affecting This Area
Bills and issues of current interest in the Illinois legislative session include legislation relating to the following: heating installations, including liquefied petroleum gas for heating purposes; delegates to the National Conference of Mayors; fuel suppliers who install heating or air conditioning appliances; and the business of supplying fuel; except contractors installing or servicing heating or cooling systems.

Senate Bill Six—Dixon. If the state desires to make relocation payments to eligible persons in urban-rural federal aid highway projects, such payments would be deemed part of the construction costs.

Senate Bill Seven—Neistein. Requires use of voting machines in all precincts in Illinois with a population of more than 10,000. Changes terms from four to six years.

Senate Bill Three—Simon and Dixon. Names Illinois Youth Commission, paroling authority for persons in its custody. Parole board to be composed of five members, one from each of the following: the governor, the attorney general, the state's attorney, the state's clerk, and the state's treasurer.

Senate Bill Nine—Neistein. Requires physician or other person attending the birth of a child to submit to a physical examination as prescribed by the State Department of Public Health; appropriates $100,000 for the purpose of instituting an educational program concerning the disease; requires statement of the physician showing the test was made.

Senate Bill Five—Carpenter. Amends Illinois Municipal Code to provide that the city council may, at its discretion, authorize the city manager to enter into a contract with the city manager for the purpose of providing for the city's needs.

Indifference Hardly The Answer To Brazen Crime

A play presented several years ago depicted terrorism by young thugs on a train. Distasteful to most of the patrons in attending other people seemed too extreme to be real. Our conclusion was that the desire to "not become involved" surely could not be that strong.

The work of fiction had become reality this month for a 68-year-old Illinois state representative, he has disclosed. Noble W. Lee, Chicago Republican and dean of the John Marshall Law School, was beaten on the face and robbed of articles worth $80 by three youths on an elevated train while riding from his law office to his home. The beating and robbery occurred while he was "minding his own business"; one of the youths pushed away the newspaper he was reading and demanded his wallet. After the beating, he was pushed to the floor of the car.

"When I tried afterward to get the names and addresses of a couple of men sitting ahead of me, they just shook their heads and looked out the window," Rep. Lee related. A conductor entered the car and said a woman had reported some trouble; "I told him I'd been robbed and he turned around and went back to the other car." The victim noted that the car was cleared for 20 minutes throughout the attack, which lasted several minutes, but his 20 fellow passengers remained in their seats.

Earlier instances of the absence of "good Samaritans" have had impact on us, partially because it was not fully substantiated that all who could have helped were aware of what was going on. But it would seem probable that some commuters saw Rep. Lee, themselves and society could have made a difference. There are some things worth more than avoiding personal risk, including compassion and self-respect.

Competition For Venice, Madison Public Offices

One of the most encouraging developments as 1965 municipal elections approach is the prospect of competition for Madison and Venice city offices.

This is no way is a criticism of incumbent officials, nor is it a recommendation for election of newcomers. Rival office-seekers can best be compared after the filing period has closed, when it has been established precisely which names will appear on the ballots for various offices.

But the whole point of the election process is a choice between two or more candidates. In government functions beat in the long run when an official knows that only a high level of performance will assure him of future victory. There is room in Madison and Venice, as in any city in a democracy, for voices of dissent.

Political 'Success Story'—No Debts, Few Victories

If it is much consolation—and we doubt that it is—the Republican can take pride in at least one major 1964 accomplishment. In concluding its campaign with all bills paid and a surplus of several hundred thousand dollars, the GOP beat the first major party in many years to stay out of the red.

Democrats also enjoyed a financial success, relatively speaking; their $1 million deficit last year was several times less than that of 1960, which the party would have lost as a disaster, year except for one fact—it won the presidency.

An interesting development in 1964 was an almost total reversal of traditional fund sources. Contributions in general came from the thousands, while Republicans shattered all previous records of both parties in the number of small gifts from individual voters.

The latter fact alone makes people contributing to the party of their choice—one of the healthier aspects of the current political outlook, especially in view of the repeated Congressional failure to develop effective curbs on election spending.

In this way, citizens in general can become their own best lobbyists, minimizing the degree to which their officials are beholden to organized pressure groups.

GRANITE CITY PRESS-RECORD

JANUARY 22, 1915

The culmination of several years of political endeavor in Granite City was successfully reached last evening when, at a mass meeting of members of the Peoples and Labor party, Granite City, together with numerous avowed candidates for various offices in the aldermanic and mayoralty election, was unanimously elected.

There were in the neighborhood of 50 candidates and voters present at the meeting.

The organization of the Independent party was made permanent by the election of John W. Nease, Labor party leader, as permanent chairman; W. G. Waters, of the Labor party, permanent secretary; and John B. Judd, the Peoples' party, treasurer.

Prior to Saturday's meeting, two other discussion sessions had been held with five representatives of the Peoples party and six members of the Labor party. Finally, after it was pointed out that in reality the two parties were striving for practically the same end, on practically the same platform, they decided to combine.

Still another indication of rapidly approaching normal conditions, which were predicted after the new year, was shown when the Granite City Refining Co. announced that they were placing the local branch office in Granite City.

On Monday, Jan. 18, the Granite City Refining Co. announced that they were placing the local branch office in Granite City. The new office will be located at the corner of Main and Second streets, near the old building.

Swamp Angels Select Swimmer of the Month

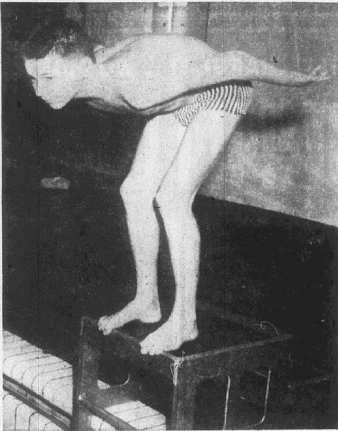

The Swamp Angel swimming team at the YMCA has selected Chuck Kaiser as the outstanding competitive swimmer for the month of December.

Competing in the 11-12 age group, he has been defeated only once this season while winning 14 times. He was chosen on the basis of his competitive record, attendance at practice, attitude and sportsmanship.

He has been swimming for five years and represents the Town and Country pool in Collinsville in summer competition and the Granite City YMCA in "X" competition. He will compete in YMCA district competition in March and is expected to qualify for state "X" competition early in April.

The boy plans to become an engineer, a collegiate swimmer and a lifetime swimming coach in the future. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kaiser, reside in Collinsville.

Student publications at the University of Illinois include the Daily Illini, tabloid newspaper issued five mornings a week; the Illini yearbook, the Technograph, engineering monthly magazine.

SWIMMER OF MONTH of the Swamp Angels team is the YMCA's Chuck Kaiser who was selected for December. Competing in the 11-12 age group, he has a record of 14 and one and will enter district competition in March.

Venice Schools Set TB Tests Tuesday; TAP Dance Feb. 9

By JUDY REIDELBERGER

About 110 Venice students and teachers will pass through the line to receive their tuberculosis tests next Tuesday.

The shots will be given by a team of doctors from the Illinois Department of Health and Mrs. Ruth McDonald, the school nurse. This is the new type of shot called "hypo jet spray" and is given only to the first, fifth and ninth grades and some of the teachers.

The results can be read at the school in 72 hours. Those who have a positive reaction will be x-rayed.

The TAP (Teens Against Pollution) dance is scheduled for Feb. 9. Voting for the TAP king and queen is conducted by placing money in a jar along with the names of the candidates. One penny buys one vote.

The candidates are freshmen Russell Turner and Cindy Boerwirth, sophomores Richard Essington and Glenda Brown, and seniors Don Agers and Mary Donna Scuterra. The junior class has yet to nominate its candidates. All proceeds will go to the Polio Foundation.

ARLETTE ALEXANDER of Granite City, one of six candidates for 1965 Military Ball queen at Southern Illinois University where she is a sophomore. Six candidates were chosen by the Arnold Air Society Air Force ROTC.

Miss Alexander Chosen Military Ball Candidate

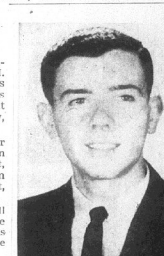

Miss Arlette Alexander, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas M. Alexander, 3105 Hapo road, has been chosen one of six candidates for 1965 military ball queen at Southern Illinois University, Carbondale.

Selected by the Arnold Air Society, honorary organization within the Air Force ROTC unit, the candidates were chosen from the membership of Angel Flight, women's auxiliary to AFOTC.

The military ball, which will be held at 8 p.m. Jan. 30 in the University Center ballroom, is the biggest formal event of the year at Southern Illinois.

The queen will be selected by vote of the cadets, and her name will be kept secret until the evening of the ball. She will be crowned during a coronation ceremony at the dance by last year's queen, Miss Kathy Jones of Joliet.

Ignatz Piljak, 68,
Suffers Attack, Dies

Ignatz Piljak, 68, of 1216 Meridian street, was dead on arrival at St. Elizabeth Hospital Monday at 6:30 p.m., a short time after he suffered a heart attack in his home. He had been suffering from a heart ailment for the past three years.

Mr. Piljak was born in Yugoslavia and had been a resident of Granite City for 47 years. He retired from the Granite City Steel Co., after working nearly 45 years as a sorter. He was a member of the United Steelworkers Local 30.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Tullie Piljak; a stepson, John Kazman of Granite City, and a stepdaughter, Mrs. Ann Bots of Granite City; two nieces, Mrs. Frank (Mildred) Kraus of Granite City and Miss Lubica Piljak of Yugoslavia; a nephew, Rudolph Piljak of Yugoslavia, and five grandchildren. Funeral arrangements are given in today's obituary column.

Nameoki Township
Sewer Ordinance
Still is Pending

Publication of Nameoki township's sewer construction ordinance currently under review to exclude the village of Pontoon Beach, is planned for early February, town board members were told Monday night at a regular meeting held in the town hall on Route 162, Stallings.

Action on the ordinance, which calls for $1,625,000 worth of sewer line and treatment plant construction in three areas of Nameoki township, will follow a regular publication of a "sample" ordinance presently being prepared by a Chicago bonding firm. The cost figure is to be reduced with the elimination of the village.

Supervisor Harry Briggs said the village of Pontoon Beach is expected to decide whether to participate in the sewer system at its Jan. 28 meeting.

The village is included in the largest portion of the sewer project construction phase, which consists of Mirable Manor, and the Bellefonte area and the village as originally planned at an estimated cost of $1,263,200. The other two sections are East Madison-Cloverleaf Addition, $226,395, and State Park Place, $237,000.

In the event township residents request a referendum, Briggs previously stated that present plans call for the proposal to be submitted with the regular township election on April 6. If passed, the sewer construction project will require an issuance of about $1,700,000 in revenue bonds.

A monthly charge rate has been established at about $4.66 under current schedules of bond retirement and annual maintenance and operating costs. Additional income from tap-on fees, estimated at $215,000, would give the township a total of $1,925,000 expected cost of the complete sewer project under the original plan.

Legality of Stop Signs
In other business Monday night, Board Atty. Nick D. Vasileff was asked to clarify legality of school stop signs and other traffic control signs in the township and erected through the office of Road Commissioner Charles Hanks.

Rodney Redman, a State Park deputy sheriff, reported to the board of continual stop sign violations in the State Park area. He said many of the original signs have been stolen and numerous area residents have complained of violation incidents, especially near school areas.

Atty. Vasileff explained that erection of the signs was prior to his appointment. He said that if the township has legal jurisdiction to erect them, new ordinances should be enacted by the board when locations have been selected.

In the only other business, the board approved payment of bills totaling $1195. The bill list included $425 for road materials from the Mid West Black Top Co., East St. Louis, and a $150

Tax Guide Available For Farmers; GC Office Open

Many tax problems confronting farmers may be solved in the Internal Revenue department's 1965 edition of "Farmer's Tax Guide," Jay G. Philpott, district director of internal revenue, said today in announcing that temporary office assistance of Granite City taxpayers is continuing. The office in the city hall building in Granite City is open each Monday from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m.

The new pamphlet, Philpott said, will answer such questions as depreciation allowances for farm equipment, depreciation on livestock purchased for breeding, and application of livestock profits under lower capital gains rates. Rules for deducting expenses of clearing land and investment credits allowed against taxes in purchase of equipment are explained in the booklet.

A section on record keeping tells what records must be kept and shows a easy method of keeping track of income and expenses throughout the year.

Other important subjects covered include accounting periods and methods; inventories, basis for determining gains or losses; casualty losses and thefts; soil and water conservation costs; self-employment Social Security tax; personal exemptions and deductions; trades and condemnations.

The "Farmer's Tax Guide" is free and may be obtained from the district director of internal revenue or from county agricultural agents.

The temporary tax office set up in the Granite City hall will be open Jan. 25, Feb. 1, 8 and 15, and each Monday thereafter until April 19. The office will offer assistance and advice in tax matters, although no telephone service is available.

Student Panel Formed For YMCA Discussions

Dr. Manfred Sonstegard, professor of psychology at Southern Illinois University, was moderator today of a junior high student panel discussion at the YMCA. The program was led by students, and the discussion topic was by a newly-formed student panel.

"Dr. Sonstegard is widely known not only in educational circles but in the field of child guidance, and has spent a great portion of his life setting up programs and counseling opportunities for parents and children," YMCA General Secretary C. A. McMillan Jr. said.

"Having worked in many child guidance centers, he has a very direct insight into understanding the challenges that face young people today."

Student representatives on the panel were selected by members of each of the YMCA junior high clubs. They are: Sandy Ramsey from Pi Beta Kappa, Ann Aufderheide from Zeta Phi, Mary Chapman from Sigma Rho, Marsha Paulette from Alpha Phi, Jerry Christian and Ed Fuller from the Black Knights and Mike MacMillan and Bill Harris from the Junior Y's Guys.

"Today's program was open to the general public. Roundtable sessions are held every Thursday in the clubrooms of the 'Y'. They begin at 10 a.m. and end at 11:30 a.m."

Crime Needn't be Accepted as Way of Life

A growing crime rate accompanying population increase and accepted by people of a community "almost as a way of life" may result in a criminal complex which maintains itself even in the face of drastic population loss, according to a Southern Illinois University sociological study.

Ernest K. Alex in a master's degree thesis on "Crime and Population in a Small Town," now in SIU's Morris Library, Carbondale, suggests a long-standing assumption that crime rates in a given community are directly correlated with population trends.

In a detailed socio-historical survey of a southern Illinois city which has undergone periods of both steady population growth and decline, Alex found that a rising crime rate accompanying the growth was not followed by a comparable decline when the city's population began to drop.

He said the city's early population structure, with a high rate of transients, combined with the emergence during these early years of an acceptance of crime and ineffective system of control, were among factors contributing to criminal activity. He also cited political and economic factors.

Alex's study of crime trends also showed the incidence of murder, attempted murder and robbery — offenses of an "individual" nature usually involving little learned technique — declined with the population. But such "professional" crimes, as larceny and burglary persisted at a much higher rate, indicating an organized "criminal" subculture.

Alex, a native of New York, who did doctoral work at SIU, said the city's location as a transportation center exposed it to heavy transient population. The resulting heterogeneous and anonymous environment encouraged a wide range of illegal activity, which in turn drew customers to the community.

Outside Pressure Successful Out of these early years also emerged a value system "accepting crime almost as a way of life," he reported. Reform movements undertaken by resident groups were short-lived and of little consequence. Only pressure from external groups, primarily state and federal authorities, met with much success.

Only after the community had become known for its "wide-open" practices did much local regulation go into effect, the study showed. Even then, police salaries were inadequate and financial difficulties often led to cutbacks in the police force.

"Throughout the history of the community," Alex said, a reluctance to enforce the laws was manifest. He cited instances of political leaders having vested interests in illegal activities.

Slot Machines Pay Rent The study showed that illegal activities were an important source of revenue. "During periods of economic hardship," Alex said, "merchants depended upon the revenue from slot machines to pay the rent capital made in

Tax Deductions for Students Explained

New provisions of the Revenue Act of 1964 setting up certain benefits for many students who earn part of their expenses allow a minimum standard deduction of $200 plus $100 for each exemption. It was explained today by the Internal Revenue Office.

Married couples filing a joint return are entitled to $200 minimum deduction, plus the $100 for each exemption, while married persons filing single are allowed a $100 minimum deduction plus $100 for each exemption.

An unmarried student may earn $800 in 1964 without owing Federal income tax. The usual $500 personal exemption plus a $300 minimum standard deduction. A return must be filed, however, if earnings are $600 or more.

Committee to Keep Trying

Veto of GC Sewage Filter Changes Stands

The mayor's veto of the sewage treatment plant resolution to get new bids for filter equipment still stands.

A motion Monday night by the Special Pollution Abatement Committee failed to get sufficient support. However, the committee chairman, Charles W. Moerlein, is looking for other means to push through the committee recommendation. It is based on suggestions by local industrial engineers to get a lower cost filter that is rated higher for efficiency over the higher-priced model recommended by the project engineer.

The motion for reconsideration needed 11 votes to carry and the vote was 8-to-5. Three aldermen were absent — Bartosick, Boyd and Pence. Voting for reconsideration were Partney, Rutledge, Whitmer, Johnson, Dallas, Mac-

Sternberg and Thompson. Opposed were Nomm, Skubish, Basarich, Mrs. Betine and Bergfeld.

Moerlein and the committee were seeking bids from the Komline-Sanderson and the Elanco companies for upgraded specifications for the filters. The council favored the K-S stainless steel spring filter over the synthetic cloth Elanco filter, based on the recommendation of the project engineer.

Davis said in his veto message that he was satisfied with the recommendation of Sheppard, Morgan & Schwarz on the filter for the treatment plant and that the project engineer did not indicate any move to follow the upgraded specifications recommended by the industrial engineers.

The vote on sustaining the mayor's veto also failed to carry. It was 5-to-8, just the reversal of the reconsideration vote. Moerlein said this would pave the way for further action by the committee, even though the mayor had authorized start of construction on the treatment plant last month.

Placed on file by the council was notification from the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare that an assurance of compliance to the federal law banning discrimination in hiring for construction projects financed in part with federal tax funds must be filed by the city. The forms are to be returned to the government in 15 days.

Venice Man Held in Money Order Probe

Richard H. Cobble, 512 Second Street, West Madison, was arrested by Venice police Monday afternoon in an investigation involving the cashing of two American Railway Express money orders that were among a series of forms that had been reported lost or stolen earlier this year.

Police Chief Frank DeWitt said Cobble was picked up on complaint of Harry Stoeniger, operator of the Venice Food Center, 512 Second Street, Madison, after Cobble, allegedly passed two express money order forms in amounts of $55 and $100 at the Food Center.

DeWitt said the police department had notice of the theft or loss of a series of money order forms in a bulletin sent out by the Bureau of Criminal Identification and Investigation of the Illinois Department of Public Safety under the date of Jan. 1. The two money orders, bearing Cobble's endorsement, correspond in serial number to two of those listed as missing.

Specific charges will be included on the circuit court complaint following a further investigation of the case in an attempt to determine how Cobble came in possession of the money order forms, DeWitt said.

Western Union Seeks Rate Hikes; Hearing Set Feb. 9

The Illinois Commerce Commission has called a public hearing for 10 a.m. Feb. 9 on proposed increases in Western Union rates which the last office said would average at one per cent or less.

Jack Seel, manager of the local telephone office, said it would involve very few residents and is the smallest increase ever to be proposed by the utility.

At a meeting of the Granite City council Monday night, aldermen decided to send the commission a telegram strongly opposing the hike.

Seel explained that several different types of increases are involved, if the proposals are approved. The charge for telephone messages which are received, this will affect less than half of the residents who send telegrams.

The charge for those wishing a copy of a message filed by telephone would be decreased from 15 to 25 cents. There would be an upward adjustment of about 10¢ on charges for intra-U. S. money order, and 10.7% on principal amounts for overseas money orders. The difference on a $20 money order would be about 2½ cents, Seel explained.

There would be no basic changes in the general rates for the public, government or press. The rate will remain the same for messages of 15 words or less but would increase from 6 to 6½ cents for each additional word in the case of a $120 message to the west coast.

The press rate would increase from 10 to 10½ cents for each additional word in a west coast message.

In registration of code address for overseas business, the registration fee would increase from $15 to $17.50 per year.

The local manager said the amount effect would be on larger users who do not have teletype equipment.

Council Buys Heaters For Street Depot, Garage

A one bid of $482 for two gas heaters for the city street depot and garage was accepted Monday night by Granite City council members. It was submitted by Tri-City Heating & Air Conditioning Co. Portable units now are used to heat the building.

Bids also are to be sought to reconstruct the garage which was damaged by hail last year. Council members have been talking about abandoning the garage for larger quarters elsewhere or possibly buying adjacent property to enlarge it.

Bids also were opened to re-roof the civil defense building, 1411 Nineteenth Street, and the contract was awarded to Quilt City Roofing Co. with a $330 figure. Another bid was received from Art Bebel Co., East St. Louis, $370.

Purchase of a battery charger for the street depot was authorized on a bid of $140, less 2% if paid within 30 days, submitted by National Auto Parts Co. The firm also submitted a $144 bid and there was a bid of $2118 from L&M Auto Supply Co.

Two Cars Damaged

Two cars were damaged, one slightly, in a collision Monday at 13th Street and Madison Avenue. A car driven by Paul Lansford, 45 of 1015 Iowa Street, Madison, was damaged in the left front, and an auto driven by Roland E. Kries, 19 of 2538 Spaulding Avenue, received minor damage. Lansford was headed east and Kries was driving south and turning west.

GC Crime Rate Increased 11% Over Previous Year

Criminal offenses in Granite City increased by slightly more than 11% in 1964 over the previous year, the police department reported. There were 1178 offenses, 117 more than in 1963. It was considered to be well under the national average, while Alton, a city of similar size, reported a 24% increase. The local average would have been even less, but a 150% increase in reported auto thefts included "joy riding" cases in which there was no intent to permanently steal a car.

A total of 119 auto thefts was reported, compared to 44 in 1963, and only 19 were considered as actual auto thefts, authorities commented. But they were required for national crime statistics.

There were no murders, manslaughter by negligence or forcible rape cases, compared to one each the previous year, while the number of robberies dropped from 13 to four and aggravated

C. of E. to Lease Land

Sealed bids will be accepted until 10 a.m. Feb. 10 at the office of the U.S. Army Engineer District, St. Louis, on the lease of 14 tracts of land along the Chain of Rocks canal levee, ranging in size from 2 1/2 to 100 acres. The tracts will be available for lease for eight-month periods beginning March 1.

Assault cases decreased from 10 to 12.

Burglaries and attempted burglaries totaled 338 during the year, an increase of 26. There were 78 cases of larceny over $50, a hike of 36, and 64 cases of larceny under $50, including bicycles, an increase of five.

City's 8-Month General Fund Balance Slim

Granite City completed eight months of the current fiscal year with $851,821 disbursements and a quarter-million dollar total balance in its 17 general fund accounts, but with four months remaining, it is obvious the $421,389 sales tax reserve and position the $853,902 parking meter fund in the special accounts will be hit hard for operating funds. The Dec. 31 financial report was submitted to the council Monday night.

General fund disbursements in the first eight months have averaged about $106,500 a month, and with the $250,508 balance on Dec. 31, that would leave only $222,000 a month for general fund expenditures through April 30.

At the start of the fiscal year the council anticipated expenditures from the sales tax to avoid too many red figures in the general fund accounts at the end of the fiscal year. The Dec. 31 statement shows that the red figures will begin appearing in several accounts at the end of January unless fund transfers are made before that Jan. 31.

GC Relief and Town Fund Bills Approved
Relief disbursements totaling $3068 and town fund expenditures and salaries amounting to $1361 were approved Monday night by Granite City council members.

The relief expenses included $540 half-month salaries for the office staff, $25 travel allowance for the caseworker, $39 for office telephone, $35 for employees' retirement, $23 for a one-year service contract for an office machine, $2 for supplies, $16 for gas and electricity and $9 for water.

For relief patients the costs were $2988 for food orders, $1776 for hospitalization and medical care, $307 for rent and $38 for fuel.

Town fund disbursements included $682 for officials' and office staff half-month salaries, $100 for the town attorney, $20 for the clerk, $240 for deputy assessors, $141 for employees' retirement, $100 for telephone service for the assessor's office and $16 for janitor service.

Continue Meetings on Water Company Strike
The East St. Louis & International Water Co. and representatives of the International Hotel Carriers, Laborers Local 397, still are negotiating issues involved in the three-month-old strike in the Granite City office of the district.

Sixteen laborers employed by the water company have been on strike since last November as the result of a dispute involving wages as the principal issue. According to E. C. Smith, East St. Louis, district manager of the company, Union officials said working conditions also are involved in the dispute. The contract expired last August.

Mothers March Jan. 25 To Climax 1965 Dimes Drive

The annual March of Dimes campaign in the Quad-Cities and Madison county will be climaxed on Jan. 25 with a march by hundreds of mothers on apartment and homes to solicit contributions for the fight against birth defects.

Mrs. Kelley Wells, Granite City, chairman of the Mothers March, said the volunteers will make their calls between 6:30 and 8 p.m. In instances where no one is found at home, return envelopes in which donations can be mailed will be left, Mrs. Wells said.

"Our Marching Mothers have a true personal stake in this campaign against birth defects," she said. "More than anyone else, they realize the tragedy that birth defects can bring into the home. They want to do something about preventing these conditions which, cripple limbs and retard minds and disrupt what should be a happy family life."

Mrs. Wells said that the March of Dimes, through its scientific research program, has begun to make strides toward this goal of prevention. She cited studies now under way on the inheritance of chromosome abnormalities such as occur in mongolism and the nature of certain inherited metabolic disorders which cause brain damage and mental retardation.

The March of Dimes is also pioneering in the care of birth defect victims by developing and perfecting new treatment techniques at its scores of university and hospital-connected centers around the country, she added.

Contract to Update Master Plan Ok'd; Appeal Deferred

Final approval was given to $4885 proposal by Southwest Illinois Metropolitan Area Planning Commission to update its city's 1957 comprehensive plan and 1958 zoning code.

The total cost is to be $14,650 but SWIMAPC says the city can qualify for federal tax funds under the 1967 Federal Planning Assistance Act that would provide $9765, or two-thirds of the total cost.

The $4885 is to be paid SWIMAPC in two fiscal years—half this year and half next fiscal year.

Under the agreement, the agency is to update Granite City's economic, population and transportation sections of the master plan and revise land use and zoning restrictions due to annexations and changes made since the zoning code was adopted.

Beauty Shop on Grand Ave.

No action was taken by the council on a zoning appeals board ruling that grants permission for a beauty shop in a home at 2523 Grand avenue that would serve 15 to 20 customers a week. Off-street parking would be provided with the razing of a garage at the home.

Aldermen objected that they had received objections to the recreational field in presenting the program for graduate students next Thursday evening.

The event will be held at the SLC Cardinals campus. Moderator will be William Ridinger, associate professor, department of recreation and outdoor education.

Other members of the panel will include professional from the area of church recreation, corrective institutions, playground operations, teen and college camps, centers and 4-H rural activities. Participating students are recreation majors.

Gasoline Firm to Erect Ranch-Style Building

Reconstruction of the Shell Service station on the northeast corner of 20th street and Madison avenue with a modern ranch-style service building was proposed to the Granite City council Monday night.

The request by W. L. Osmun, district engineer for the firm, was referred to the council's street committee for approval. The company plans to raze the present building for the new structure and relocate one of its two driveways along 20th street.

Mobiles plans a new service station on the southwest corner here and will raze the old Massey Dairy Co. building.

State Capitol NEWS

2 NEW FISH RECORDS SET LAST MONTH

Two new state fish records were verified in December, the Illinois Department of Conservation has announced.

Jing S. Lee, caught a 4-pound, 2-ounce sauger on Oct. 20, beating the former state record for that species by five ounces. Lee's fish was 20 1/2 inches long and 12 1/2 inches around. He caught it on a roach in a slough on the Mississippi River.

Another large sauger, only one ounce lighter, than the best day by Dick Nash of Rock Island. The sauger resembled the walleye-pike but does not grow as large. The world's record sauger is an 8-pound, 3-ounce fish caught from the tailwaters of Garrison Dam in North Dakota.

Alfred Klinger, Wilmington, caught a 3-pound, 10-ounce smallmouth bass at the Braidwood Recreation Club on May 15. The fish was 21 inches long and 18 1/2 inches in girth. The smallmouth record was held by Dick Wilhoit, Springfield, for a 2-pound, 3-ounce smallmouth taken from Lake Springfield in 1954.

Bah Illinois records were checked and identified by fisheries biologists.

129 OIL WELL PERMITS

The Illinois Division of Oil and Gas issued 180 permits during December, L. Leon Ruff, director of the Department of Mines and Minerals, said last week.

The 129 oil well permits and 127 other permits issued during December 1964 permits were classified as follows: Pool-102-wildcat-27; water input-24; salt water disposal, 8; structure test-8; water supply well, observation well-3.

2189 KILLED IN TRAFFIC CRASHES IN STATE IN '64

A total of 2189 persons were killed during 1964 in motor vehicle accidents on Illinois highways. This was an increase of 8% over the 2028 death toll for 1963, Francis S. Lark, director of the Department of Public Safety, said last week.
